

GEORGE F. WHITE

There's More to Fire Risk Than Cladding

Presented by James Cullen, Associate & Head of Building Surveying at George F White LLP

In the aftermath of the tragedy at Grenfell Tower, to this day, property professionals are still unaware of the risks that surround the subject of fire safety. The media have targeted their attention to combustible cladding, though there are far more risks being missed. James Cullen of George F White discusses fire risk in buildings, misconceptions, ways to mitigate risk, the legal obligations for those responsible and the consequences of non-compliance.

This presentation is aimed at providing an overview of the fire risk assessment process for property professions, Landlords, Tenants & responsible persons.
